(By the International News Service.)
London, Sept. 19.—German war office statements regarding the Flanders front have been characterized in the last few days by hints at British artillery preparations for a resumption of the "big push." Today again Berlin reported British shelling "of drumfire intensity." There were no infantry attacks, however, the bulletin states. The British official account said there was nothing of special interest to report. It mentioned the York and Lancashire regiments as having made the previously reported successful raid in Flanders yesterday.

Not Propitious for Further Notes.

Diplomatic circles here heard yesterday that the Vatican has given up any immediate thought of a further peace note. The abandonment of the Pope's hopes for peace is reported to be based on two factors.

1. The President's reply to the Pope's last note approved by all the entente allies and the last word from Germany as to her terms are so far apart that the Pope is convineed that no negotiations at this time would be fruitful. fruitful.

fruitful.

2. Italy and England are reported to have entered into an agreement that will bar the Pope himself from any peace conference. This has, it is believed, discouraged Pope Benedict because he had hoped through his good offices in bringing about peace to severe certain concessions for his cure certain concessions for his church by participation in the peace conference.

The surprising come-back of the Russians is also believed to have had a weighty influence on the retardation of peace negotiations. It has deprived the German government of the sweeping victory upon which German popular opinion could be made to believe an offer of peace at this time to be one made after a succession. time to be one made after a successful war. It has encouraged the allies in their faith that they have the Teuton powers in an ever-tightening

Long Threatened Severance of Diplomatic Relations Finally Decided on by Senate by Vote of 23 to 1

Buenos Aires, Sept. 19.—The Argentine senate, by a vote of 23 to 1, declared a break of diplomatic relations with Germany tonight. Foreign Minister Pueyrredon appeared before the senate tonight Pope Benedict Finds Time and read all the dispatches that passed between Argentina and Germany up to the dismissal of Count Luxburg as charge d'affairs. He said that no further explanations or negotiations were pending. GERMANS BITTERLY ARRAIGNED. Senator Gonzales spoke for three hours. He bitterly arraigned German diplomacy throughout its history since Bismarck. He concluded by moving the resolution to break diplomatic relations with Germany.

The motion was seconded by Senator Roca, who, in an equally spirited speech, pointed to the destruction of Argentine shipping and to Germany's policy of taking advantage of a militarily weak country, humiliating the republic before the world. Argentine's national reputation, however, the senator declared, was a price that would never be conceded. His words were greeted by tremendous cheers. Then the vote was taken.

Argentina Can Call 200,000 Men to Fight

Argentina has a standing army of about 24,000 officers and men. Her military reserves number 174,000

Her navy consists of 2 Dreadnoughts, 2 pre-Dreadnoughts, 4 armoved cruisers, 2 protected cruisers, 2 armoved gunboats, 2 torpedo gunboats, 15 destroyers, 8 torpedo gunboats, 15 destroyers, 8 torpedo boats and considerable miscellanecus naval craft.

Argentina's military establishment is modeled largely after the German pattern, Many of her offiers have served for years in the German army. Others have been military observers with the Kaiser's forces in the annual maneuvers. The artillery is armed with a

Argentina imports from Germany in 1915 amounted to $56,532,000 and her exports to Germany in 1914 to $23,721,126.

Lansing Precipitates Break.

Argentina's break with Gerneny comes ten days after Secretary of State Lansing startled two hemispheres—most of all Argentina herself—by the revelation of the now famous "Luxburg messages." They showed Count Luxburg, German charge d'affaires at Buenos Aires, raivising his government in cipher dispatches sent through the Swedish legation, that if Argentine vessels must be sunk by Libbarts it seems better sent through the Swedish legation, that if Argentine vessels must be sunk by U-boats it were better to have them "spurlos versenkt" (sunk without leaving a trace). Incidentally, he called Argentina's acting foreign minister, "a notorious ass."

All Argentina was shocked as by no previous event of the world war. Infuriated crowds in Buenos Aires, and subsequently in all parts of the republic, stormed, stoned and burned German houses of business and the anti-German government quickly took on a character of rebellion against kniency with Germany. The Argentine government promptly dismissed Count government promptly dismissed Cour

The Chamberlain measure carried a clause exempting aliens of less than it so that there will be no chance of the packages going astray.
